Baseball Recession Buster Until the end of January I'm running an offer on Gameplan Baseball. If you want to take on a new standby position then I'll transfer credits from an existing team (or a new payment) at a rate of two for one. After that they're non-transferable (so you can't double some credits and then move them back!) and it's a maximum of 20 credits (converted to 40).

If you want to specify a couple of leagues you're interested in that's fine, I'll send you out roundups and you can give me some preferences, and hopefully it'll mean a few more teams being run by live players, and perhaps also help out a few of those for whom things are tight, but maybe have a few quid to spend following on from Christmas.

Happy New Year Very best wishes to everyone for the New Year.

Version 4.3 Update What to do on Boxing Day. I'd been getting cross with myself for not having got very far (ie nowhere) with the proposed changes outlined in November 2008, so I got on with them. If you go to www.pbmsports.com and click on the Rules link you'll find the Version 4.3 Update there, with details of a whole bunch of changes I've added, plus a new sample draft list.

They are provisional - if we find any of them aren't working, then I reserve the right to tweak them, but I hope (and expect) they'll be OK, and I've given everything pretty serious consideration. There are a few points to make:-

Software It's worth remembering that GP Baseball is still run a DOS based machine, which means pretty limited memory. As such, I've avoided any upgrades that requires a major rewrite of the software, so that's precluded expanding rosters (changing the reserve squad to four men uses a space that was already there) and is the reason why the "batting/lineup" changes are still limited to three. Down the line, when I've time (ahem!) I'll look at whether the system can be expanded, but that'll be a way off, and I'll probably know more about the practicalities when Pete has got further with developing stuff to run under Windows.

Reserve Squad As you'll see, has gone up to four men, and yes, you'll have to find the wages from somewhere. We'll see how that goes, and affects the game, and then down the line I can look at whether we want to try and expand it further.

Winterball I've put this on hold. I think the introduction of MINORS is sufficient for now, maybe forever, but there's enough changes to the development of younger players in this upgrade to be going on with and we don't want too many.

September Callups Will this mean cheap wins for playoff bound teams in the last few weeks, against teams experimenting? Quite possibly. Just like real-life. They do it in real-life to maintain interest/enthusiasm for teams out of the races, and I think all of those arguments translate to Baseball, and we are meant to be a simulation.

Form The change to an incoming player has zero form in fact fixes a long-standing bug, where he actually inherited the form of the player he replaced (including for his performances that turn)! Whilst there are worse things you can catch from taking over a player's locker, this shouldn't be amongst them, so I've fixed it. A rather obscure bug as it happens.....

Player Abilities I've not touched this (yet) so the proposal that new players have a tendency to have more speed, and perhaps less power is on hold. We'll see how things develop first, but this would be a relatively easy adjustment down the line.

Draft List Is "different", both in content and presentation. It's never really been a draft, but more of a "recruitment" tool, and I hope in its new incarnation it'll give you rather more headaches and decisions to make. We'll keep an eye on it.

Double Potential Losses I've introduced them, but only for very high potential. I think I'd like to extend this further, but we'll see how it goes - bear in mind that in real life there's no such thing as a quantified potential, and it'd probably be more realistic to break it down into groups anyway, so you only had an idea of how much potential a guy had left. I'm not proposing to change that, but I don't think anyone should feel that if they sign a player with potential of 13, they're guaranteed he'll play for 13 seasons before hitting a decline - life isn't certain like that. But we can see how this develops.....

Free Agents I've zapped the "Old Team" concept. The more I thought about it, the more I hated it. Also, the Free Agents (Posting Fees) proposal is binned, though they're sort of included within the new draft. Don't want it too complicated....

Defensive Substitutions Would require the reprogramming outlined above, so on hold for the moment.

MINHITS If you want to ignore it, you can do so. Some will, some won't. We'll see how it plays out. I'll get the online turnsheet updated in the next few weeks, so don't be surprised when you see it appear (but remember it's only applicable for the 2009 rules, so when it does appear there, it'll be for all leagues, but won't actually be in use until you upgrade to 2009 rules.

Dropouts I may, or may not, be also tweaking the software which handles what computer controlled teams do. If I do, and I won't confirm or deny that I am, it's none of your business, and I won't be announcing any changes to those routines!!!!!!

Comments and feedback on all version 4.3 stuff are more than welcome. I know this has been in the pipeline for some time, but better late than never, and sorry you've had to wait so long. If it tempts you to the recession buster offer, feel free.....
